Inviting Participants

When you schedule your conference, an invitation email will be sent to your Participants which includes the conference information and a link to enter the Desktop Sharing session.

Once in a Desktop Sharing session, the Presenter can also invite Participants on-the-fly by providing Participants with the link to enter the session, or by sending an email with the session link and the conference dial-in number and access code.

1. Select the “+” icon in the Participants list section (see figure 2)
2. In the “Invite Participant” window, you’ll see the link to enter the Desktop Sharing session
3. To send an invitation email, enter the Participant’s name and email address, then click “Send” (see figure 3)

Installing Java Software

The Presenter will need to have Java installed on their computer in order to share their desktop. The first time the Presenter shares their desktop, they will be prompted to install Java, if not already installed. Participants do not need to have Java installed.

1. Select “Start Sharing” then “My Screen...” in the drop-down menu (see figure 4)
2. You will be notified if Java needs to be installed (see figure 5)
3. To install Java visit www.java.com and click “Free Java Download”

Note: Java is only required to share your desktop and is NOT required when uploading a document directly.

Installing X11 Software

If presenting on a MAC and running OS X 10.8 or higher the Presenter will need to have X11 installed on their computer in order to share their desktop. The first time the Presenter shares their desktop, they will be prompted to install X11, if not already installed. Participants do not need to have X11 installed.

1. Select “Start Sharing” then “My Screen...” in the drop-down menu (see figure 4)
2. You will be notified if X11 needs to be installed (see figure 6)
3. For more information about installing X11 click “Continue” or visit <http://xquartz.macosforge.org>

Note: X11 is only required to share your desktop and is NOT required when uploading a document directly.
